New centre rolls out red carpet: Abbott

PROCESSING asylum-seekers in "idyllic" areas was like rolling out the "red carpet" to people-smugglers, Tony Abbott said yesterday.

The Opposition Leader capitalised on community anger in the Adelaide Hills over the Gillard government's handling of plans for a new detention centre in the picturesque region.

Mr Abbott led a tour of the Inverbrackie housing estate near the Woodside army barracks before attending a community forum at a hall in the nearby town of Woodside.

His shameless political strategy was in stark contrast to Immigration Minister Chris Bowen, who came under fire for secretly touring the estate on Monday and then avoiding angry local residents by holding a closed meeting in another town 20km away.

"This is obviously quite an idyllic part of Australia and bringing asylum-seekers to a place like this is hardly sending the right message to the tens of thousands of potential boatpeople in our region," Mr Abbott, who was denied access by the Immigration Department inside the modest brick homes, said yesterday.

"I think bringing asylum-seekers to an area like this is basically saying to the people-smugglers and their customers that the welcome mat is out, that the red-carpet treatment is available and it's the last thing that the government should be doing."

Mr Abbott directly linked Tuesday night's interception of two boats carrying more than 140 asylum-seekers with the government's announcement to open the Inverbrackie estate next month for 400 people in family groups.

"Don't send what would effectively be a picture postcard to the people-smugglers, 'Come to Inverbrackie'," he said.

At the town hall meeting of about 200 concerned residents, Mr Abbott received cheers and applause for asserting, "First of all we've got to stop the boats". He said a Coalition government would reopen an offshore processing centre in Nauru.

"I don't get the impression from anyone in this room that this is not an open and welcoming community," Mr Abbott said before spending 90 minutes mingling and chatting with residents, including Holocaust denier Fredrick Toben.

"Tony and I go back a long time, but I am also a concerned citizen," Dr Toben said.

Greens spokeswoman Sarah Hanson-Young accused Mr Abbott of "hijacking community concerns to whip up fear".

Most residents continued to express anger with the government for not consulting before announcing its plan.

Mr Bowen last night said the government was focused on ensuring the new centre provided "economic benefit" to the local community.

Strange case of Dr Toben and Mr Abbott

Philip Coorey November 5, 2010

TONY ABBOTT'S journalistic past has returned to haunt him with a controversial character about whom he once wrote laying claim to being an old acquaintance.

When Mr Abbott attended a community rally in the Adelaide Hills on Wednesday to rail against plans to house 400 asylum seekers near the Woodside army barracks, he was approached for a chat by the well-known Holocaust denier, Fredrick Toben.

Dr Toben, who lives in Adelaide and has done jail time in his native Germany for his views, told The Australian newspaper that "Tony and I go back a long time". Yesterday he repeated the claim to the Herald but declined to go into detail.

Dr Toben, who is used to politicians fleeing when he comes near them, said he admired Mr Abbott because "he has no fear of guilt by association". This makes him in many respects a man of the people," he said.

Mr Abbott's office said his only association with Dr Toben was in 1987 when the Opposition Leader was working for The Bulletin magazine.

Back then, he wrote an article about Dr Toben being sacked as a school teacher, supposedly for incompetence. Dr Toben's classes were reportedly "unruly and that his teaching methods were inappropriate". www.smh.com.au/.../strange-case-of-dr-toben-and-mr-abbott-20101104-17fv9.html

Phillip, me mate!

Why 'strange case' ?

Why 'controversial character'?

Why 'haunt him'?

Why 'Holocaust denier'?

Why not mention my time spent in two SA prisons? Now go and wash your mind and hands – you have been exposed to a mindset that fearlessly dissents and critically evaluates the official conspiracy theory of Holocaust-Shoah, namely that Germans during World War Two systematically exterminated European Jewry in homicidal gas chambers, and concludes that this narrative is full of war-time propaganda and lies.

Of course, FOR THE RECORD, I also claim that the official conspiracy theory of 9/11, that a group of Arabic-speaking individuals perpetrated the 11 September 2001 tragedy, is a technical nonsense.

However, the setting of this new dialectic was needed when the old – Soviet Union/Marxism v Liberal democracies/capitalism – imploded, and international capitalism needed another effective deflective dialectic to continue its global outreach work of sucking the life-blood out of nation states.

Note that 9/11 occurred four days after the 28 August-7 September 2001 Durban, South Africa, United Nations Conference on racism & xenophobia had solidly condemned the Zionist, racist, apartheid state of Israel. Miraculously 9/11 reversed this and Israel was warmly embraced into the western liberal democracies and the world of Islam, the Muslim peoples, was declared to be behind the new world terrorism.

This story is on-going, of course, as you well know. Still, The Holocaust-Shoah lies have lasted over 60 years while the WMD of 2003 didn't even last more than a few months, while 9/11 made it past 12 months but was shaky from the start.

Cheers, Fredrick.

NICK BUTTERLY, CANBERRA, The West Australian November 5, 2010, 2:15 am

Tony Abbott has distanced himself from a renowned Holocaust denier after being photographed with him at a public meeting about the building of an immigration detention centre.

Fredrick Toben, who has been jailed in Australia and Germany for publishing anti-Semitic material and for declaring there were no mass killings of Jews during World War II, has claimed he and the Opposition Leader were close and "went back a long time".

Dr Toben was pictured standing with Mr Abbott during a community forum in the Adelaide Hills on Wednesday to discuss the building of a detention centre to hold asylum seeker family groups.

Mr Abbott had been at the meeting as part of an attempt by the Opposition to hammer home its attack on the Government for its decision to build new detention camps in Adelaide and WA.

"I love Tony Abbott as a politician because he has no fear of this guilt by association principle," Dr Toben said yesterday. "When most politicians see me they run away because they are crippled because of some sort of Zionist guilt."

Mr Abbott was quick to deny any association with the South Australian, explaining the only dealings he had ever had with Dr Toben had been when he was a reporter for The Bulletin Magazine during the 1980s.

"There is no personal relationship," a spokesman said.

The 1987 article was about Dr Toben's sacking as a schoolteacher for "incompetence".

Senator Nick Xenophon said all kinds of people approached politicians at community events.

"If Mr Abbott wants to stand on an issue that's OK but he's got to be careful who he is standing next to," he said.

Meanwhile, another two boatloads of asylum seekers arrived in Australian waters off Christmas Island on Wednesday night, talking the number of boat people to arrive this year to 5547 - a record number.

One carried 11 passengers and the other 71.

F Töben comments: I have never stated that I was 'close' to Tony Abbott. In this respect South Australian Senator Nick Xenophon is still a little immature - he is one fellow who dashes off when he sees me.

Australia's leading anti-Semite claims Tony Abbott and he "go back a long time"

By Andrew Landeryou · November 4, 2010

Mr Abbott talks to Holocaust denier Fredrick Töben yesterday Picture: Kelly Barnes

Australia's leading anti-Semite Fredrick Töben yesterday claimed an association with the federal leader of the parliamentary Liberal party Tony Abbott, telling The Australian:

"Tony and I go back a long time."

His claim followed Abbott and Töben having a chat after a protest meeting addressed by the Opposition Leader of Adelaide residents complaining about the imminent arrival of asylum seekers in their neighbourhood.

It might have been best for Abbott to turn his back on the leading Holocaust denier and convicted criminal rather than have a polite chat with the man who served a seven month sentence for "offending the memory of the dead" in Germany in relation to his Holocaust denial activities. He also did a stretch in Australian jail for contempt of court after breaching a court order that he not publish material vilifying Jewish people.

Töben is nauseating enough to convince even those most worried about the security of our borders that we should immediately admit to the country everyone he doesn't like.

And give them free housing (and a free car and matching nipple ring Mike Laker style).

The loon has spent most of his days arguing the Holocaust is a "conspiracy theory" which - even if it happened - had nothing to do with Adolf Hitler. Echoing Israel-haters in academic and media circles Töben argues that:

the current U.S. government is influenced by world Zionist considerations to retain the survival of the European colonial, apartheid, Zionist, racist entity of Israel.

VEXNEWS understands that Tony Abbott's interlocutor is still currently a fugitive from German justice after initially defeating an extradition order from German authorities so he could face trial there for publishing racist and xenophobic material online.

We doubt Abbott is as effusive about Töben as Töben is about Abbott but there couldn't be a worse look for the federal Liberals as they make their legitimate points about the racket of people smuggling and the soaring number of unauthorised arrivals by boat since the Rudd/Gillard governments stopped discouraging these arrivals by sending people to an undesirable location in Nauru.

Debates about immigration are very easily hijacked by bigots and lunatics. While there's political mileage in talking about the stopping the boats, we hope Abbott does a lot better at shunning the loons.

We note that Abbott is a staunch friend of Israel and of the Jewish community.

AUSTRALIA'S LEADING ANTI-SEMITE CLAIMS TONY ABBOTT AND HE "GO BACK A LONG TIME"

1. I have had nothing to do with Mr Toben no matter what you may hear. Neither he nor his institute have ever given me money or ran third party campaigns against my opponents.

Posted by Pisstopher Chryne | November 4, 2010, 9:49

2. Toben runs a think tank, the Adelaide Institute, that is supposed to be an educational institution, a glorified TAFE College. But it isn't. Gerald Henderson, who runs the Sydney Institute, an organisation with a much better pedigree, is offended that his organisation is put in the same category as Toben's one in the so called city of Churches.

The views of the Adelaide Institute, for example the comment "anti-semitism is a disease. You get it from Jews," are offensive to all Jewish people. So are the false claims denying the existence of the holocaust. Didn't Iran invite Toben as a keynote speaker to a holocaust deniers conference? Stay away from that man Mr Abbott.

5. Unfortunately, Tony Abbott's minders appear to let any Israel/Jew-hating fuckwit near him.

I still think Abbott's polls would go through the roof if he simply headbutted some of these arseholes and walked away laughing.

6. Holocaust "believers" are the only people in the world that FEAR discussion about their event! AMAZING! Why is that I wonder....every other group of people that have had a genocide against them WELCOME discussion.

7. Truth is the worst enemy of liars.

8. Toben fears no discussion, so why not put him in his place in a public forum where the holocaust is open for all to see, and answer his questions truthfully and honestly. What is the problem with that? If there is nothing to hide, why be so against discussion?

By your very actions people are becoming more suspicious of the whole event.

I like many, used to believe the holocaust, until my own questions went unanswered, and they are legitimate and I thought easy to answer, but apparently not.

No matter what jews do from here on, they cannot stop people from discovering the truth.

The ONLY thing jews can do is round up all the holocaust deniers and execute them. That's ultimately what you want isn't it?

To do to the world what you did to 40 million Russians between 1917-53? What about the Katyn forest?

Might as well execute all the climate change deniers while you are at it, and why not all those that think killing innocent

Palestinian kids as well? How many jewish kids have died in the last 40 years in Israel?

All this is coming out, and no matter what you do, you can't stop it.

9. 1. Please be advised that Mr Peter Hartung is the Director of Adelaide Institute. He continues to delve and probe into official conspiracy theories, such as 9/11 and Holocaust-Shoah inversion.

2. The tone adopted by Andrew Lander-you in his article makes him a PRIME UGLY.

3. Guilt-by-association is Lander-you's message, something mature individuals who value free expression reject outright, as does any journalist who thinks deeply about vital issues. How else are you to gain information when the mind is closed.

4. Lander-you's mindset exemplifies what a PRIME UGLY's conceptual prison looks like: a deeply authoritarian self-consuming, below-the-belt rummaging in hate and self-loathing, the well-spring of which is his infantile infatuation to find a scapegoat - in the form of the Comedy Company's "DOLLY DID IT!"

5. Of course he loves to embrace all those official conspiracy theories that, so he thinks, enable him to be an arbiter of truth and standards, and thereby receive social acceptance and recognition.

6. He still cares what others think of him, and that's a school-boy characteristic.

7. Then again, Lander-you does not seem to me to be interested in embracing such concepts as beauty, truth, justice and honour because his value system can only produce agitation propaganda.

Cheers, Fredrick Töben, Adelaide

10. Hello Andrew. I have spent the past ten years in a fruitless search for hard evidence that would show the 'Holocaust' really happened beyond a shadow of a doubt. Like you, I too am a fan of hate and unreason, and thank my lucky stars that they no longer lock such enlightened folks as you and I in institutions, but allow us to move freely and un-medicated among the community to write for newspapers and idolize our mutual heroes- George Bush, Tony Blair, Pol

Pot, Joe Stalin etc and heap hatred upon those wicked thought criminals like Toben, who, it must be said, committed no crime under UK - USA or laws of most Asian countries but this just proves how evil and unenlightened these nations are. Kill them all and Toben too lest truth spreads further, don't you agree? I'm sure you do.

Mr. Toben is entitled to his opinion. History is a tricky area. There are often two contradictory versions of a single historical event, depending on who wrote it. Personally, I believe the Holocaust to be a hoax propagated by demented so called "survivors". You could disagree with me. I believe that 911 was a crime covered up by rogue elements in the US government. You could disagree with me. The only difference is that 911 could be thoroughly investigated, while Holohoax rebuttal cannot, due to the difficulty of digging out old evidence.

How is that, in a free society one cannot question an event. One thinks, what have they got to hide. If something really happened like the claimed Holocaust why not allow an open discussion with facts and evidence that prove without any doubt such an event occurred, instead of committing hate crimes against those who ask legitimate questions.

~~It might have been best for Abbott to turn his back on the leading Holocaust denier and convicted criminal

Mr Landeryou, you will note by the photo that Tony Abbott knows very well whose hand he was shaking, but he has common courtesy which you clearly are deficient in.

Back in June one Jewish Jeff Prager - article below - wrote a long but pivotal article about the Holocaust, saying that after having investigated it for himself having seen the number tattoos on now long departed relatives, he came to the conclusion that it NEVER happened - his caps.

Mr Landeryou, why not do a piece on Jeff Prager, urging the authorities in the United States to set aside the 1st Amendment in this extraordinary special case of Holocaust Denial to have him declared a criminal awaiting conviction?

I mean if a Jew can be a Holocaust Denier, why can't a Gentile?

But, Mr Landeryou, if you are to eat well, you know where your nose has to be firmly planted.

Michael Mazur, Brunswick Vic

While I am still too close to the dross around me to be nice to them, I do have pity for them, such mindless tools of the dark. And they think they are free!

Unfortunately the touchstone itself can be worn away, even as water wears hard rock. But the living truth / touchstone is immortal as it will always be reborn, rediscovered, and work better than before. It is not a mindless tool but a living process.

Your example restores and resurrects us all.

With Paul-Eric Blanrue, against the Gaysot Act and for Vincent Reynouard

'It's wrong when we are denied the right to challenge common beliefs or culture, especially when everyone knows that the books are written by the victors. It doesn't stem from hate to say "I don't believe" whatever. This anti free speech stuff always irks me. This is nothing like a call to violent action even.' – Steve Wozniak

That is the comment with which Steve Wozniak, co-founder of Apple Computers (see his biography at http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Steve_Wozniak/), has recently accompanied his signature of the petition launched in France by historian Paul-Eric Blanrue against the Gaysot Act and in favour of Vincent Reynouard. The Gaysot Act of July 13, 1990 prohibits the diffusion of historical revisionism on pain of imprisonment and fine. On the grounds of this law, Vincent Reynouard, aged 41 and a father of eight, was in 2007 sentenced to one year in prison without probation and ordered to pay about €70,000 for having written a 16-page pamphlet entitled Holocauste ?Cequel'onvous cache... ("Holocaust? What's being kept hidden from you..."). At the request of the French authorities, who had issued a "European arrest warrant" for him, he was arrested by the Belgian police last July in Brussels, where he lived with his family, then jailed in Belgium for over fifty days before being extradited to France. He is now incarcerated in Valenciennes in northern France. And throughout the Western world the mainstream media ignore the fact that in France an honest man, father of eight children, is serving a year in prison and must pay €70,000 because he authored a piece of writing of sixteen pages.

For his part Noam Chomsky has stated his position in a letter against the Gaysot Act and in defence of Vincent Reynouard. You may find that letter at

The full statement from Noam Chomsky to the release of Vincent and the repeal of the law Gaysot Publié le Vendredi 24 septembre 2010 by CSVR| Laisser un commentaire

I understand that Vincent Reynouard has been condemned and jailed under the Gaysot law, and that a petition is being circulated in protest against these actions. I know nothing about Mr. Reynouard, but regard the Gaysot law as entirely illegitimate, inconsistent with the basic principles of a free society as these have been understood since the Enlightenment. The law in effect grants the state the right to determine historical truth and to punish departure from its edicts, a principle reminiscent of the dark days of Stalinism and Nazism. If the justification of the Gaysot law is to ban "horrendous views", or to protect the right to "live free from fear of an atmosphere" of prejudice and racism, then it should be obvious that, if such laws were applied impartially, they would criminalize a vast range of public discourse, which, however despicable one may find it, should certainly be permitted in a free society, and indeed is, with no question being raised.

Accordingly, I would like to register my support for the petition protesting the application of this law in this (or any) case.

Noam Chomsky, September, 5th 2010.

In France, a writer, father of eight, is in prison for his historical research. And nothing is said about it in the so-called free press!

French author Vincent Reynouard

To sign a petition in defence of Vincent Reynouard's right to free research and expression, please visit the petition site (in French) at <http://abrogeonslaloigaysot.blogspot.com/> or send a message to the author of this communiqué, Mr Paul-Eric BLANRUE:

eugenie.blanrue@laposte.net

With a wife and eight children, the Frenchman Vincent Reynouard, aged 41, is a chemical engineer by training, a graduate of the ISMRA ("Institute of sciences of atomic matter and radiation") in Caen (Normandy). He readily presents himself as a traditionalist Catholic and does not hide his ultra-conservative political opinions. But, most important, he publicly disputes, in his DVDs and writings, the conventional version of Second World War history. He is one of those researchers who declare themselves to be

"revisionists" and who are called "deniers" by others because they do not believe in the existence of homicidal gas chambers in the wartime German concentration camps.

In 2005, Reynouard wrote and sent to numerous tourism offices, museums and town halls a 16-page brochure entitled "Holocaust? Here's what's kept hidden from you...", in which he took a view altogether opposite to that of academic history. French justice immediately pounced upon him.

His trial in 2007 at the criminal court in Saverne (Alsace) resulted in a sentence of one year's imprisonment, a fine of 10,000 euros and an order to pay damages of 3,000 euros to the antiracist league "LICRA". In June 2008 the court of appeal in Colmar upheld the prison sentence and ordered him to pay a total of 60,000 euros (a 20,000 euro fine, damages, mandatory publication of the ruling and court fees). Severity as never seen before.

Since he resides in Belgium, France launched a European arrest warrant for Reynouard in order to make him serve the prison sentence ordered by the Colmar court. On July 9th he was imprisoned by the Belgian police, pending his extradition to France. All of which leads him to say: "When people can think of no other way but imprisonment to get rid of a verbal opponent, it's because they have no arguments."

Conclusion: A 41-year-old father of eight is currently in prison for his historical research, because of the Gaysot Act. This Act of the French parliament ("article 24bis" of the law governing the press), having come into effect upon publication in the Journal Officiel on July 14th 1990, prohibits the "disputing (...) of the existence of one or more crimes against humanity as defined by Article 6 of the Charter of the International Military Tribunal [known as the Nuremberg Tribunal] in annex to the London Agreement of August 8th, 1945."

In my book Sarkozy, Israël et les Juifs (Oser Dire publishers, [Belgium], 2009), I recall that this freedom-killing law has been strongly criticised in the past by such personalities as the French academician Simone Veil; the Permanent Secretary of the French Academy, Hélène Carrère d'Encausse; the government ministers Jean Foyer, Jacques Toubon, Alain Peyrefitte; the historians Henri Amouroux, Pierre Vidal-Naquet, Annie Kriegel, François Furet, Alain Besançon, Jacques Willequet and François Bédarida; the founder of the Hannah Arendt Research Institute, Chantal Delsol; the 1988 Nobel laureate for economics, Maurice Allais; the writers Michel Tournier, Louis Pauwels, Michel Houellebecq, Philip Murray, Jean Daniel, Vladimir Volkoff, Michel Rachline and Alain Robbe-Grillet; the judges Philippe Bilger, Alain Marsaud and Raoul Béteille; the legal scholars Olivier Duhamel, Anne-Marie Le Pourhiet, Emmanuelle Duverger, André Decoq and Guy Carcassonne; the lawyers Jacques Vergès and John Bastardi Daumont; the philosopher Paul Ricœur; the comedian Bruno Gaccio; defenders of the freedom of expression like the founder of Reporters Sans Frontières Robert Ménard (who denounces it as a "thought police") and Gabriel Cohn-Bendit; the journalists Dominique Jamet, Delfeil de Ton, Alain Rollat, Albert du Roy, Philippe Tesson, Jacques Julliard and Ivan Rioufol; also by the former president of the Ligue des droits de l'homme, historian Madeleine Rebérioux. Abroad, the American linguist Noam Chomsky has declared himself an absolute opponent of it. For the Belgian physicist and intellectual Jean Bricmont, "the Gaysot Act is a legal regression of several centuries". As for Presidents Hugo Chávez and Mahmoud Ahmadinedjad, they have strongly condemned the repression resulting from this law.

Henceforth it falls to us to defend free expression in deed and not just in theory. Why is no one heard publicly denouncing the present fate of Vincent Reynouard? What are Reporters Sans Frontières, Amnesty International and Human Rights Watch doing? No organ of the media, either French or foreign, has informed public opinion of this case. Such silence is abnormal.

Personally, I have decided to act as a historian and as a citizen, and to make it known, through this press release, how appalled I am at the fact that, in our country, we have a man thrown into prison for his opinions, however unusual, shocking and controversial they may be. Such treatment is not worthy of France or her intellectual tradition. It is not for the law to say how historical truth is set down: in a free country, that is the task of historians. The Gaysot Act, which restricts the historian's freedom, is unworthy of a democratic State; it is a wicked law. I therefore ask for its immediate repeal.

I hope to be joined soon by dozens, hundreds, thousands of other people unable to remain indifferent in the face of a scandal that seriously harms the image of France and flouts the spirit of the Republic.

Those who wish to sign this communiqué along with me can send me their names and contact information at the address eugenie.blanrue@laposte.net. It is not a question of supporting Vincent Reynouard's religious, political or historical ideas but of defending his right to express them. To challenge them, an open, democratic, fair and honest debate will suffice.

We shall go over the results of this request for signatures towards the end of September.

Meanwhile, thank you for circulating this text to the utmost extent.

Amy Aremia: WAKING UP TO A WORLD CURRENCY. Saturday, 6 November 2010 1:10 AM

World leaders, American politicians, academics, and bankers are not only debating the feasibility of a world currency, they have the mechanisms in place to ensure its being. After a recent G-20 conference, headlines around the world announced the imminent arrival of a "new world order," a global currency, a world central bank and a planetary monetary-policy regime, the following heads of states commented:

Zhou Xiaochuan, head of The People's Bank of China and a communist, authored a report last year calling for a world fiat currency issued by the International Monetary Fund.

International Monetary Fund boss Dominique Strauss-Kahn, an admitted socialist, is one of the most well known advocates of a global fiat currency issued by the institution he leads,

President of the European Central Bank, Jean-Claude Trichet is one of the primary engineers of the emerging global-governance structure and an important coordinator of global monetary policy. The BIS, the central bank of central banks, which was almost disbanded for supporting the Nazis, is becoming increasingly powerful, along with global financial regulatory institutions. And for Trichet, this is a positive development.

If all the advocates of a world fiat currency, if all the elites pushing for global government, get their way, the world will accept a planetary fiat currency issued by a world central bank---a fiat currency not back by a precious commodity like gold.

After World War II the world's financial system was in disarray. Political leaders and financial heads met at Bretton Woods, New Hampshire, USA, from July 1st to the 20th in 1944, to plan the post-war economic order. Economist John Maynard Keynes, who sold the US government on deficit spending, and the British government, proposed the creation of a world currency called the "Bancor," and the U.S. government proposed a world currency to be known as "Unitas," but the schemes never took off for a lot of reasons. Instead, the Bretton Woods agreement resulted in the U.S. Dollar.... Its value at the time tied to gold.

In 1971 a new system emerged, money was no longer backed by gold, but by trust and other commodities, and through the power of the Federal Reserve, by creating money, making the dollar less stable.

In June of this year, French President Nicolas Sarkozy saying world powers should think together about a new international currency system, concluding that the world's financial system was outdated, and should be replaced. "We all need to think about the foundations for a new international system. We've been based on the Bretton Woods institutions of 1945 when our American friends were the only super power."

In terms of the international monetary system, European Central Bank boss Jean-Claude Trichet said central banks around the world are already able to take quick, decisive and coordinated action in short notice. We need a set of rule in terms of the International monetary system. But a crisis shows gaps in the system of global governance, in terms of both efficiency and legitimacy have to be filled, pointing out that the process was already going on.

The significant transformation of a system of a global finance and world governance is moving decisively to this transformation three facts: The emergence of the G-20 as the prime group for global economic governance at the level of ministers, governors, heads of state or government.

The establishment of the Global Economy meeting of central bank governors under the auspices of the Bank for International Settlements (BIS), as the prime group for the governance of central bank cooperation.

The extension of Financial Stability Board membership to include all the systemic emerging market economies.

Trichet added, "Global governance is of the essence to improve decisively the resilience of the global financial system. The crisis has driven an historic change in the framework of global governance."

Currency manipulation by the United States Federal Reserve's version of a central bank, international authorities have become increasingly vocal about the supposed need for a world fiat currency controlled by a single world central bank. The United Nations and the International Monetary Fund are the most prominent considered.

Earlier in 2009 a UN panel called for talks on setting up a new international monetary system and moving away from the dollar. The calls are only becoming more frequent and respected as time goes on, and the American currency systematically being devalued.

Krema II de-commissioned as a homicidal gas chamber.

The latest revisionist work from the so-called German establishment comes from Fritjof Meyer, 70, one of the senior editors of Germany's leading weekly news magazines Der Spiegel. Published in the respected Osteuropa states:

1. In Auschwitz half a million people were murdered, of those about 356.000 were gassed".

2. The actual genocide probably took place mainly in the restructured farm houses outside of the camp; only recently the foundations were discovered of the first , the 'white house' or 'Bunker I'. Meyer has as yet not been hauled before a German court for 'defaming the memory of the dead'!

Of course for Revisionists this kind of fiddling with the numbers and buildings is nothing new. It is still telling lies about that gassing allegation at Auschwitz.

However, if the Meyer statement stands, then the Auschwitz Museum will again have to change its 20 plaques, as it did when the official 4 million number was reduced to 1-1.5 million in 1989. It will also have to remove the sign that states Krema II was a homicidal gas chamber.

In 1997 I crawled down into the remains of Krema II - in 1999 I spent seven months in a German prison for having stated on our website that this is not a homicidal gas chamber. During my trial at Mannheim, the public prosecutor maintained that there were two Zyklon-B gas insertion holes in the roof - contrary to the orthodox version.

Prof Robert Jan van Pelt, expert witness at the Irving trial in 2000, stated that the alleged 'four' square holes were in fact the size of tennis balls.

In his latest book, The Case for Auschwitz. Evidence from the Irving Trial, van Pelt discards the tennis ball size holes and reverts to the four square holes, something Meyer rejects outright because he has latched on to the farm house.

Now an authoritative source states this mortuary- Krema II - was never a homicidal gas chamber. So much for the 'Holocaust' lie. Dr Robert Faurisson's "No Holes, No 'Holocaust'", is still in vogue, and Professor Arthur Butz has his basic thesis confirmed - again! Udo Walendy and Wilhelm Staeglich are vindicated - Ernst Zündel, et al, can breathe easy. Dr Joel Hayward's Canterbury MA(hon) thesis stands on firm ground. Is there anyone who will run with the farm house gassings? David Irving thinks he'll run with that story. Will the 'Holocaust' liars now cease their work and admit they have been a part of a massive extortion racket and a vicious libel campaign against the Germans?

Hardly, at least not while this 'Holocaust' lie serves the purpose of upholding the Zionist-apartheid-racist state of Israel. Devoid of all moral and intellectual integrity, the 'Holocaust' liars will invent another story - to keep the Shoah Business going.

That's life - while the morally and intellectually bankrupt upholders of this lie flourish within government institutions.

Mike Durakiewicz: Radical professor denies Holocaust, November 4, 2010

It's worse than you think. Kaukab Siddique, associate professor of English at Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, is an Islamic radical who demonizes Jews, mocks Holocaust victims and calls on Muslims to "liberate" Jerusalem.

During a Labor Day rally in our nation's capital, Siddique branded Zionism as "racism," "genocide" and "terrorism" and called on Muslims to "unite and rise up against this hydra-headed monster." "Anyone who considers Israel a legitimate entity," says the professor, "is a Zionist. Each one of us should be prepared to liberate Jerusalem," he blasted. "The Koran is a book in which there is no doubt. It does not beat around the bush," Siddique added in a word of warning, "To the Jews, I would say, see what could happen to you if the Muslims wake up."

The professor's calls for the next Holocaust go hand in hand with his views on the last one. "Secret extermination of six million people was not possible," he wrote in a December 2009 e-mail. "Now ask yourself, where did the bodies of Six Million (sic) go?"

"Notice that Jews wiped out entire PALESTINIAN villages but failed to hide the atrocities (sic) in spite of their control of the media."

To call Siddique "cozy" with anti-Semitic conspiracy theories would be an understatement: "The Germans were against Jews for their key positions in Communism. The Jews, as in America today, controlled the entire economy. You have not read the Jewish Holocaust stories," declared the professor. "They are quite funny because they contradict each other."

The Jews-Communists in the camps were well organized and sent propaganda to the outside world."

But the professor's activities don't stop at Jew-bashing and Holocaust denial. In a 2002 speech to the New Black Panther Party, he declared that the United States was "at war with Islam" and expressed his camaraderie for Islamic terrorists.

"I really loved it," he said, referring to an extremist rally in Pakistan. "You now have women sending their children for Jihad."

One gets the flavor of what kind of a person Kaukab Siddique is fairly quickly. Despite outrage from Anti-Defamation League and an open letter from two state senators, Lincoln University President Ivory V. Nelson ensured the public that the anti-Semite will stay right where he is: "Dr. Siddique has made it apparent that his opinions are his own and not part of the curriculum."

Subject: "Italians and the Holocaust...Let's Spread the Guilt"

To The Editor,

So now it's Italy's turn to accept some of the responsibility for the killing of six million of God's favorites, (Scholars Reconsidering Italy's Treatment of Jews in the Nazi Era: NY Times, Nov.5, 2010). The "scholars" of course are all Jews although the article itself is written by what appears to be an Italian-American shill of the Jews named Paul Vitello. What was initially portrayed as a crime of the Nazis is gradually morphing into a crime for which all mankind is guilty. Only the other day I saw a book in my local library about the role played by the Palestinians and last year there was one about the Japanese. What's next, The Masai, the Inuits, the Sri Lankans and the Bolivians? The agenda is clear, if all of mankind is in some way guilty, then all mankind is morally indebted to the Jews and that monstrous racist theocracy Israel that they created following World War II. -- joe

Being happy—is it good for the Jews? "Before Professor Dershowitz accused me of being an anti-Semite (news to me), I was a happy person. Since then, I'm still a happy person". --Michael Santomauro

An antisemite condemns people for being Jews, I am not an antisemite.--Michael Santomauro

Most of us are mentally trapped to think Jewish.

Actually, it is safe to say that virtually every mainstream publication or other type of media organ is "nothing more than a screen to present chosen views." The great battle over the last century has been a battle for the mind of the Western peoples, i.e., non-Jewish Euros. The chosen won it by acquiring control over essentially the complete mainstream news, information and entertainment media of every type, and using that control to infuse and disseminate their message, agenda and worldview, their way of thinking, or rather the way they want us to think. Since at least the 1960s this campaign has been effectively complete. Since then they have shaped and controlled the minds of all but a seeming few of us in varying degree with almost no opposition or competition from any alternative worldview. So now most of us are mentally trapped in the box the chosen have made for us, which we have lived in all our lives. Only a few have managed to avoid it or escape it, or to even sometimes see outside of it, and so actually "think outside of the (Jewish) box." --Michael Santomauro

Thank you and remember:

Peace is patriotic!

Dear Chief Executive Lynn Jackson

Please, I pray, advise me:

1. Why am I not permitted to attend your most interesting Holocaust conference in Dublin this month?
2. I see the conference theme emphasises denialism. Is it safe to presume there will also be academic papers presented that explore truth-content of what passes as Holocaust-Shoah narrative?
3. Will the conference also expose the many fanciful stories told by survivors, for example the notorious Herman Rosenblat story featured on the Oprah Winfrey Show? - see item below.
4. In view of the conference's 'antisemitic' emphasis, will there also be a focus on the Talmud-generated hatred of things not Jewish? For example, will you focus on Jewish supremacism as recently expressed by Chief Rabbi Ovadia Josef of Jerusalem: 'Gentiles exist only to serve Jews'?

5. I am interested in Professor Meir Litvak, Center for Iranian Studies, Tel Aviv University, who will speak on 'Antisemitism in Iran and Holocaust denial'. Will there be scholars from Iran attending this International conference?

6. Of particular interest for me is Prof Robert Wistrich's 'Holocaust denial and inversion' because I have observed how Holocaust inversion has totally gripped the Holocaust-Shoah narrative, which makes it another form of nihilism. This would explain why in a number of countries individuals, who refuse to believe in its narrative, are labelled 'deniers', 'haters', 'antisemites', 'racists', 'neo-Nazis', 'xenophobes', even 'terrorists' – and often imprisoned. It seems to me that an open discussion is thus feared by those who believe in the Holocaust-Shoah narrative on account of their personal Holocaust inversion problem, which then becomes a pathological lethal obsession fuelled by a self-serving victim mentality that cannot tolerate anyone asking questions. Hence the need to criminalize those individuals who refuse to adopt the Holocaust inversion mindset. Perhaps you can pass on my thoughts to Professor Wistrich for comment.

7. While I still have your attention, could you please ask Professor Robert Jan van Pelt whether he still stands by the statement he and Deborah Dwork made in their 1996 book: Auschwitz: From 1270 to the present, where at pages 363-64 they state that Auschwitz I-Stammlager never had a homicidal gas chamber, and the one that is shown to visitors is merely a symbolic representation of the homicidal gas chambers at Auschwitz II-Birkenau?

Although I am saddened by the fact that I am not permitted to attend I wish you and your conference all the best.

Sincerely

Dr Fredrick Töben, Adelaide, Australia.
